REPUBLICANS OF THE STATE

The State Central Committee Passe Strong Resolutions Denounc-ing Secretary Windom and His Silver Bill.

By Telegraph to The Times. Virginia (Nev.), May 20.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee today, Hon. Thomas Fitch intro duced the following resolutions, which tee today, Hon. Thomas Fitch introduced the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that this committee affirms the State and national Republican platform of 1883, including its deciaration that the Republican party is in favor of the use of both kold and silver as money, and that it condemns all efforts to demonetize silver.

Resolved, that the persistent neglect of Secretary Windom to increase the colunge of silver to a maximum of $4,000,000 per month, coupled with his attempt to influence Congressional legislation so as to perpetuate silver demonetization, is a shameless violation of the silver plank of the national Republican platform; an attack upon the rights and interests of miners, farmers and workers of the land, and an act of party perfidy that should call for his retirement from the councils of the Adminstration, which is bledged to help, not to hinder, the remonetization of silver.

Resolved, that the Republican party of this state is in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver; that it holds to this principle as a test of party allegiance; that it will permit of no abandonment or modification of this doctrine; that, let whosoever will prove recreant to the principle of bi-metalism, it will remain steadfast thereto, and that it invites all voters in Nevada who favor the repeal of the inquitous interlineated law of 1873, by which silver was demonetized, and who desire the establishment of tree and unlimited coinage as the law of the United States of America, to join in electing a delegation to the Republican State Convention, to be held in Virginia, September 4th.

LONDON, May 20 .- [By Cable and Asociated Press.] Gladstone spoke to a arge audience today at Lincoln on the political situation. In discussing the Irish question he said the hope of Ireland could not be expected to find realization through peers and the privileged classes. Where it looked was to the generous heart and sympathy, to the sense of justice and love of liberty which ever characterized the British people. He was confident the people would declare Ireland's rights at the Salisbury admitted the existence of a strong tendency to lean upon the State upon every occasion. Against this he said statesmen must guard. Too much importance was attached to the specter of socialism. The public could be trusted to find out what practical good lies behind socialistic doctrines. Nobody not absolutely blind could deny the existence of great evils from which arose socialistic proposals and action. We are bound to do all we can to remedy these evils, even if we get called Socialists, knowing we are undertaking no new principle or striking out on no new route, but are simply pursuing the long and healthy tradition of English legislation. who has been on trial before Judge Cheney for two days past, was yesterday convicted of assault with intent to commit murder. The defendant had trouble with a Chinaman about a theater check at the Chinese theater, and the next day hunted him up. While armed with a knife, a revolver and a bar of iron, he contented himself with hitting the man on the head with the iron, inflicting two ugly wounds. The main effort of the defense was an attempt to show that Toy Sing did not intend to murder his victim, or he would have used his knife and revolver also. G. Wiley Wells, Esq., and F. B. Guthrie, Esq., made an ingenious and earnest effort to save the defendant, but the testimony was too direct to admit of the reasonable doubt, and the jury was not out five minutes before agreeing upon a verdict. One ballot settled it, and the defendant went to jail to await his sentence. who has been on trial before Judge Cheney

Is the Tax Collector Required to Refund?

The matter of refunding moneys paid on taxes afterward found to have been doubly assessed has been a vexatious one with the Board of Supervisors, and they have been recently looking into the requirements of the law relative thereto.

A letter was sent to Atty.-Gen. Jehnson not long since by C. W. Blake, deputy county clerk, at the request of the board, and a response has been received from him. The inquiry was in regard to the refunding of moneys paid by tax-sale buyers on property subsequently ascertained to have been doubly assessed.

In his reply the Attorney-General holds that the Board of Supervisors is under nobligation to return the money. He refers to chapter 3304 of the Political Code, as amended March 19, 1889; also to the Fiftynhith California, page 456, and the Fiftynhith California, page 338, and says that the nonly clause which bears clearly and distinctly on the subject is as follows:

"If the sale is absolutely void, the payment of the tax by the purchaser stands on the footing of a voluntary payment not made at the request of the owners of the land, and which he is under no obligation to refund."

In Los Angeles city Prof. T. Widd, the missionary to deaf mutes, has been asked to fill in the forms and forward them to Washington. All these returns are to be made during the month of May, and no time should be lost in this important work.

WHILE the party of distinguished Southern Pacific officials now in Southern California were at Fresno, a conference was held between them and citizens of that place. The Fresno people want their city to be made a terminal shipping point. Mr. Hunt ington's remarks gave little promise that this could be secured, but another conference will be held between the citizens and Col. Crocker on the return trip. Fresno is the most important point on the direct line between Los Angeles and San Francisco, It has made a remarkable growth during the past ten years. THE Truckee Republican comments on the increasing diversion of freight traffic from the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific route since Mr. Huntington assumed the presidency. It says that all freight, except time freight, destined to the Atlantic seaboard, goes by the Sunset route, including even freight from Truckee to New York. The Republican does not mention the chief reason for this diversion of traffic-the low grades from Southern California, to which we have frequently referred as an important element in the future prosperity of this section. Mr. Huntington is a shrewd, practical railroad man; and, without doubt, he fully realizes this advantage which nature has bestowed upon the southern part of the State.

A LESSON FOR LANDLORDS.

A lesson to property-owners of the evil effects of undue greed, is furnished by the present condition of affairs in Wall street, New York, until recently the center of the financial system of the entire country; the official abode of American money kings, and the heaven Business has been steadily drifting away from the street for half a dozen years. Almost half of Wall street is now to let. During the past year there has been a perfect exodus of business men from this once favored spot. The cause is simply that the real-estate owners have overdone things. Rents were pushed up to an enormous height; during the inflation they were readily paid, and were erected at immense tall buildings cost to meet the prospective demand. Land reached fabulous prices. Then came a falling off in the stock business; expenses had to be cut down and business drifted away from Wall street. Meantime, the race for office building has led to the erection of nearly two hundred structures of this character, ranging in cost from the $475,000 building to the $3,250,000 Equitable palace.

During the late real-estate boom our local landlords came near duplicating this mistake. The collapse of the boom, however, forced a reduction of rents, which prevented a wholesale exodus from any one street, such as now threatens Wall street, in New York. The moral of this is that it is not wise to kill the goose which lays the golden eggs.

FLORICULTURE AS A BUSINESS.

In this land of flowers it is remarka ble that our floral wealth is not put to more financial use. We recently showed how one small town in the south of France received last year an income of several hundred thousand dollars from its flower gardens. Yet the climate of the Riviera is not equal to that of Southern California.

A floral society holds monthly meet ings in San Francisco. It has been endeavoring to awaken interest in the subject of our floral wealth. In the East they raise flowers under glass, in winter. Violets sold last winter, in New York, at $3 a bunch of a hundred violets. But the cut-flower business, important as it has become of late years, is but a trifle in comparison with that of the manufacture of perfumes from flowers. In southeastern Europe, thousands of acres are devoted to roses. Here in Southern California roses seem to grow spontaneously. Of course, the business needs skill and knowledge. The finer variety of show roses are comparatively useless for this purpose Their beauty has been developed at the expense of their perfume. should, however, not be more difficult to make floriculture pay than it has been to make a success of orange and raisin-grape and olive culture. There is big money in the business. Who will give it a fair trial?

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. - There was good, old-fashioned gathering of first nighters present last evening to witness the first performance here of Bronsor Howard's military drams, Shenandoah. The house was densely crowded in every part, standing room only being for sale before the curtain went up. As if in keeping with the warlike spirit of the plece, the gallery, which is susually most orderly in this house, showed signs of turbulence and seemed impatient for the piece to begin and when it was begun nothing seemed t satisfy "the gods" but battle, murder an sudden death; they were impatient of the tender passages, and sometimes laughed the love scenes to scorn with imitative osculations and other derisive soisea. But how they cheered in unison with the whole audience at the stirring representation of warlike episodes; how excited they became when the distant bugie calls were heard, and also the tramp of armed men, at first far off and gradually nearer, till they seemed about to march on the stage to the tune of a well-remembered war song. sudden death; they were impatient of the well-remembered war song.

The finest thing in Shemandoah is undoubtedly the scene in which the battle is so skillfully depicted. Everything is so arranged that the often farcical hand-to-hand combat is not seen, there is, in fact, no shooting done on the stage, and yet the scene is terribly realistic, the beaten Union soldiers retreat slowly and sullenly across the stage in picturesque disorder, some failling by the way, others supported by their comrades, and when the men are railled and Sheridan comes dashing across, mounted on his coal black cnarger all covered with foam, and the Stars and Stripes are once more carried to the front, the entusiasm of the large audience is unbounded. It was shown in such an emphatic—and spontaneous manner last night as has seldom been witnessed within the walls of this theater. Every detail has been most carefully attended to, in order to give a realistic tone to the piece. The soldiers all have mud-bespattered boots and uniforms that look the worse for active service, and in a number of different ways the spectator is made to feel the reality of the war without witnessing too much of its actual hor to the dialogue of the opening act, which In the dialogue of the opening act, which manner that is expected of the modern dramatistor novelist. The company is a large one and remarkably well balanced. Henry Miller, an accepted favorite in Los Angeles, plays the lead with all the case and gentlemanly finish that is characteristic of his style. Frank Burbeck makes a respectable "Gen. Haverill," and R. A. Roberts a very good "Capt. Heartscase." James O. Barrows had the low comedy part of an Irish sergeant all to himself, and played it in a manner to obtain all the laughs there were in it, and many there were.

laughs there were in it, and many there were.

The ladies formed a bevy of beauty and grace seldom seen in one piece. Dorothy Dorr, with dimpied elbows, was a fascinating "Mrs. Haverill." Odette Tyler and Zoe Tuttle as the southern and northern belies, respectively, were as charming as, could be desired, the former especially being full of archness and dramatic fire. Nanette Comstock was a captivating "Jenny Buckthorn," and her scenes with her would-be stern parent, admirably played by Mr. Harwood, were highly diverting. Alice B, Haines in a small part evidenced great intelligence and the possession of a voice of rather unusual sympathetic quality.

As a whole the piece was a thorough sucless than asked for. "The need of money and men is increased," the report says, "by the great recent activity in railroad building, multiplying new settlements that must have the gospel early. Oregon, Washington, the Dakotas, Montana, California and Nevads all call for help. The Presby-terian Theological Seminary in San Francisco has had offered it a fine sice and $250,000 of additional endowment if $50,000 can be raised outside. This would soon give us a supply of trained ministers for churches that now cannot get them, and would lift many weak churches to self-support, liber-ating money for sorely needed new works. The secretary, Dr. Kendall, said a great increase of outlay for the city evangelization in recent years accounted for much of the deficit. Scarcely any work is so much needed or so fruitful as this comparatively new city work. Hereafter every dollar given in church contributions shall go for current expenses and the wages of teachers, not to float mortgages."

The report was adopted.

The hour having come for the discussion of the report of the special committee on publication. Elder Graham of Philadelphia, speaking for the business sommittee of the board of publication, said it had not been properly and seasonably notified of charges made against it, and therefore offered a resolution that both reports be referred to a committee to report to the next general assembly.

The motion was laid on the table until Mr. Simmons of the special committee had an opportunity to explain the charges. He showed how the committee had an opportunity to explain the charges. SOUTHERN METHODISTS.

They Adopt Prohibition as Their

Sr. Louis, May 20.-[By the Assolated Press.] In the Methodist Con ference this morning the committee on temperance made a long report which they defined the position of the church on the subject and gave the result of extensive inquiries of various conferences throughout the country as to the attitude of churches and mem-bers in regard to the use of intoxicating beverages, their manufacture and sale and license or prohibition. The report says, in substance: The Methodist Episcopal Church South is emphatically a prohibition church. The committee is able to state that. for the most part, church members throw their influence against licensing the liquor traffic. The testimony was uniform and unvarying as to the fidelity of preachers in the cause of temperance, and practically universal as to the valuable work of the National Women's Christian Temperance Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the cause of temperance. The report was unanimously adopted.

The committee on spiritual state of the church made a long report con-demning dancing, card playing, thea-ter going, attendance at race courses, circuses, etc.

Dr. Philpot of Texas moved an amendment to cover the use of to-bacco and opium, but it was ruled out of order.

Dr. Duncan of Tennessee, author of the original resolution on worldliness, condemned the report as glossing over evils. There was evidently a disposition growing in the church to cover up concessions to worldliness.

Dr. Hoss wanted the utterance to include racing, the owning and selling of race horses, the buying and selling of lottery tickets, renting of buildings in which the liquor traffic is carried on, owning or editing Sunday papers; but it was voted down and the committee's report was adopted.

Reclutions were adopted that, recognizing the well-known evils resulting from recent disastrous floods and destructive cyclones, due in a great measure to the cutting down of forest trees, this conference desires most earnestly to bring these evils to the attention of the Federal Government, and to urge such measures as will prevent further destruction, and also the planting of trees on waste lands to be gradually reforested.

Dr. Benjamin Lee offered the following resolution, which was adopted: Resolved, that it is the sense of the conference that all State and local boards of health should keep all cases of leproey existing in their respective districts under surveillance, and should require physicians to report all cases which come to their notice. resulting from recent disastrous flood

The warm weather has raised the water in the weather has raised the water in the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers so that island levees are now in greater danger than at any previous time this year. This morning the east and west levee, seven miles long, was again threatened, the water from the old river coming within one foot of the top, and the waves washing it badly. Two hundred men were employed, and then a thousand sacks were sent to the island. This evening a telephone message was received saying it is believed they can hold the levee and save 6000 acres of wheat on the south side of that tract. Where the levees were built on the wheat on the south side of that tract. Where the levees were built on the mainland, north of Tracy, the water today ran over the levee, and bad breaks occurred. One break on the Nagle tract occurred this afternoon, the crevasse being one hundred yards wide at a point near Martin Lammer's ranch. This break will flood three thousand acres of grain on the Nagle tract.

At another point the water ran over the McLaughlin levee, and will flood a thousand acres. It is believed that the water will back up to within about two

For transcontinental distances a part of them would be 66 per cent.; as, for instance, our rate from Chicago and St. Louis and every place west to the Pacific Coast is 75 cents, and this would be 50 cents; but for a great part of it, it would be 50 cents against $1.

The Senate Discusses "Original Packages."

McKenna Assails the Sugar Schedule in the McKinley Bill.

A Speech Which Pleased the Demo cratic Side of the House

All the California Republican Con Record as Against the Bounty System

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), May 20.- By the Associated Press.] Senate.-Mr. Stanford introduced a bill for loans on public lands. He announced that he would hereafter address the Senate on the subject.

The Senate then proceeded to consider what is known as the "Original Package" Bill.

Mr. Wilson of Iowa, who introduced the measure, addressed the Senate in explanation and advocacy of it, stating that it was made necessary by the recent decision of the Supreme Court. It was a response to the suggestion contained in that decision that Congress could permit the exercise of the restraining powers of States, and it was for the purpose of giving that per-mission that the bill had been introduced and reported. The effect would be to leave each State to determine for be to leave each State to determine for itself what its policy should be in regard to the traffic in intoxicating liquors. At the present time "original-package" saloons were being organized in his State. It was to put a stop to such practices, and to recognize in every State the power to regulate its own internal policy, that the bill was reported.

such practices, and to recognize in every state the power to regulate its own internal policy, that the bill was reported.

Mr. Vest said he was not able to agree with the majority of the committee in reporting the bill, because it would sweep away the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States over interstate commerce. The Supreme Court had decided emphatically that alcoholic stimulants were articles of interstate commerce, and the power to regulate commerce among the States and with foreign nations was an exclusive power vested in Congress by the Constitution. An intimation that Congress might delegate to a State that power was contained in the obtier ductum of that decision. He (Mr. Vest) contended that it could not be done. The Supreme Court had decided that the power of Congress over interstate commerce was exclusive. If it could be delegated in regard to one article of merchandise (alcohol), it could be delegated in regard to any other article—wheat, corn, rye, oleomargarine, etc. Was the Senate going to make that new departure? Was it, on a mere dictum of the Supreme Court, to tear down the barriers of the Constitution? The real question, he said, was whether Congress could delegate a power vested in it by the Constitution to any State or number of States. He believed it could not. To do so would be to destroy the interstate clause of the Constitution and all purposes for which it was intended. So far from having any uniformity, there would be in that case diversity and hostility. Missouri would shut out one article, Kansas another and so on until there would be chaos from one end of the Union to the other.

At 2 o'clock the Silver Bill came up as unfinished business, but was laid aside informally.

Mr. Vest continued his speech. He said that, if this bill were passed it as unfinished business, but was laid aside informally.

Mr. Vest continued his speech. He said that, if this bill were passed it would open up an opportunity for a successive series of such bills, just as the emergencies or opinions of different States might call for that sort of legislation. How long would it be, he asked, until another demand was made upon Congress to give permission to all States to exclude something else—tobacco, for instance?

Mr. Hoar argued in favor of the bill.

Mr. Hoar argued in favor of the bill.
Unless what was proposed in this bill, or something equivalent, could be done, it would be the law of the United States for all future time, unless the Constitution were amended in for any State authority to prohibit it.

Mr. Edmunds remarked upon it as a curious and interesting circumstance that a condition of things had been reached when, according to the debate and according to the judgment of the Supreme Court, States had no power to deal with the subject and Congress had no power to deal with the subject and Congress had no power to deal with it. The result was, there was in every man in one State an inherent individual, personal right to carry into another State what that State might consider injurious to its safety. There to sell it; and that Congress has no power to stop it, and that States could not stop it, unless Congress gave them that power. It was only necessary to state such a proposition to show that the Supreme Court had taken the longest step ever taken within a hundred years in the Republic, towards a centralization of power somewhere, either in the Supreme Court or in Congress. He did not believe in centralization of power. Speaking of the importation of intoxicating liquors into a State, Mr. Edmunds claimed that once they got there, they were subject to State laws, and that was what the Supreme Court would come to within the next twenty years.

After further discussion the bill

After further discussion the bill went over without action, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the resolutions offered by Mr. Cameron in respect to the memory of the late Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania. At the close of the eulogies the Senate, as a further mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Kelly, adjourned.

Mr. Sayers of Texas offered an amendment providing that iron and steel cotton ties or hoops for baling or other purposes, not thinner than No. 20 wire gauge, be admitted free. After extended discussion the amendment was rejected—96 to 124.

He died shortly after, evidently from the effects of poison he had taken. Mrs. Marquardt is employed in the fur department of Wanamaker's store, and has separated from her husband several times on account of his insane jealousy. This evening, on going home, he was waiting in her room and opened fire as soon as she entered, wounding her in the face and arm. The physicians think she will recover.

Will Waterman Personify Political and Business Folly?

and Business Foily?

[Pasadens Star.]

It is asserted with some show of authority that Goy. Waterman is likely to reconsider his decision to withdraw from the gubernatoral race, and to once more pose as a candidate. Such action on his part would be the very personification of political and business folly, and if he indulges in the expensive luxury of such a step it will be because some political force back of him has so ordered. He cannot reenter the arens without causing serions dissensions in the Republican party, which he professes to love so well. In all probability his reentering the list would be heralded by a vigorous announcement over his sigwell. In all probability fils reentering the list would be heraided by a vigorous announcement over his signature that he was there as a candidate from Southern California whose watchword and battle-cry would be "No division of the State." In this way a false issue would be raised, absolutely forced into the campaign with no other object than to defeat Col.
Markham, who, certain San Francisco papers have charged, is in favor of sued division. By such action the northern counties would be driven to support Waterman in preference to any other man from Southern California, and they have the necessary votes to force his nomination upon us. Such outrageous action would be political desperation run mad, would mean such a partisan upheaval as this State never witnessed, would result in war to the knife and the knife to the hit. Watperation run mad, would mean such a partisan upheaval as this State never witnessed, would result in war to the knife and the knife to the hilt. Waterman would be used simply as a convenient and pliant tool with which to override the people of Southern California, and satiate northern political bestiality. It would be a game at high-handed desperation, could be made to win so far as a nomination is concerned, but not one inch further. We recognize the right of Mr. Waterman and everybody else to become a candidate and withdraw as often as caprice may dictate, but the people have a supreme right to organize against and to resist to the uttermost any and every attempt at premeditated insult, injury and outrage, and they will be found in the arens of conflict, with visor down and blades whetted for the carnage. We esteem Waterman too good a man, too loyal a Republican to allow Boruek or any other man or set of men to use him for sinister purposes. His withdrawal should be final. If he reënters the contest, we can but conclude that he has yielded to the importuning of men who are more knayes than fools. the importuning of men who are more knaves than fools.

FARM TOPICS.

Fungus on Pear Trees.

FARM TOPICS,

Fungus on Pear Trees.

[California Fruit-Grower.]

We are in receipt of some pear leaves from S. W. Burtenel of San Rafael, which are affected by some species of fungus, the identity of which we are unable to determine. It does not resemble the ordinary pear blight, but the leaves are affected on the under side by numerous pin-head-like, dark spots, which have caused suspension of circulation, whitening and puckering the surface of the leaves. The leaves on the trees which are affected are those which are just maturing on the ends of the branches and fruit spurs. The only remedy which we can surgest is spraying with I. X. L. compound or with the Bordeaux mixture. If the latter is applied before the buds begin to swell it should be made as follows: Sxteen pounds of sulphate of copper in 22 gallons of water; with 30 pounds of lime llacked in 6 gallons of water. When the second mixture is gool, it should be poured slowly into the copper solution, care being taken to mix the fluids by constant stirring. If the application is made after the leaves have nearly or quite become of size, the proportion should be: Sulphate of copper, 6 pounds; lime, 6 pounds, water, 22 gallons. Dissolve the copper in 16 gallons of water and then mix. Pear trees are liable to attack from fungus throughout the summer, and the weaker solution could be applied again at a later date if necessary.

We presume that these remedies, which are so valuable for other fungi, will also prove efficacious for this one; at any rate it will do no harm to try the experiment. We notice that the leaves set us have also been attacked by the cut-worm, which comes from the ground at night and plays such havoc with the leaves of the pear tree, retiring to its place of biding before surise. The only effectual remedy for the cut-worm is a spray of Paris green, about one pound to two hundred gallons of water. The climate of California is not particularly adapted to the propagation and spreading of fungus diseuses, but we notice that in the leaves of t to the propagation and spreading of fungus diseases, but we notice that in the last few years they seem to have become more prevalent than pre-viously. This may, however, be owing to the fact that we have numerous orchards in diversified locations, which orceards in diversined locations, which give an opportunity for the development of many diseases, which previously had no chance to show themselves, not having the trees upon which to operate in the proper localities and under the proper conditions.

Mocking-birds Protected. The following is the law, punishing those who kill mocking-birds or dis turb their nests:

Section 1-Any person or persons who shall willfully and knowingly Section 1—Any person or persons who shall willfully and knowingly shoot, wound, trap, snare or in any other manner catch or capture any mocking-bird in the State of California, or shall knowingly take, injure or destroy the nest of any mocking-bird, or shall take, injure or destroy any mocking-bird's eggs, in the nest or otherwise, in said State, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace of the township in which the offense shall have been committed shall be fined in a sum not less than five dollars nor exceeding ten dollars, and the cost of the action for each offense, or may be imprisoned not less than five days nor more than ten days, or by both fine and imprisonment, as the judgment of the court may direct.

Section 2—All fines collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the county treasury for the benefit of the common-school fund.

Profitable Orange Culture. [South Riverside Bee.] Lewis F. Cram, Highlands, San Bernardino county, reports to the secretary of the Agricultural Society that from one acre of seedling orange trees, sold last season, he sold $1800 worth of oranges. He has each year spread about fifteen tops of burnyard manure on this acre and estimates the active to the secretary that the secretary the secretary that the secretary tha on this acre, and estimates the entire expense at $70; leaving a net profit of $1750, less pruning, cultivating, water and taxes. He sold in the four previous years $4400 worth of fruit.

POULTRY.

An 8-months-old chicken, residing on an Albambra ranch, greatly surprised her owners by strutting forth from a stolen nest, proudly leading a small troop of eleven tiny chickens. Another place, not far from the center of town, lives another hen who has made herself famous. She is called "the governess," and seems to have a special fondness for the young of her tribe, and when she cannot persuade them from their mother's side, she constitutes herself their governess, always accompanying the mother and her-little brood. At any time motherless chicks may be placed with her, and she cares for them with the greatest delight.—[Alhambra Review.

[There are some queer things about chickens. A lady tells us that she had a hen which deserted her brood when only three weeks old. The little chicks had a lonesome and chilly experience for three weeks without their mother, when another hea, after setting on a glass egg a few days, by some means got the little orphans up into her nest and seemed to think she had hatched them. The chicks thought they had found their mother, and thenceforth there was a happy family. The hen scratches early and late for her adopted brood.]

If the boys don't kiss the misses, then the girls will miss the kisses.— [Binghampton Leader.

THE OBSERVATORY.

A Communication from Congressman Vandever.

HARVARD

The University of Southern California on an Equal Footing—200 Acres May Be Granted.

Some weeks ago W. U. Masters, in behalf of the Pasadens Board of Trade, wrote to William Vandever, the chairman of the House Committee on Irrigation, protesting against granting to Harvard University the exclusive right to forty acres of land on Mt. Wilson for the purpose of erecting an astronomical observatory thereon, which right, it was understood, a bill intro-duced by Mr. Hoar called for. Mr. Masters yesterday received the following reply from Mr. Vandever, dated at Congressman Vaudever's communication contains the cheering information that there is no likelihood of Harvard obtaining exclusive right to the summit of Wilson's Peak as a site for an observatory. The bill before Congress, as amended, gives to the University of Southern Calitornia equal privileges on the grant, and, if the 40 acres are amended to read 200 acres, as Mr. Vandever suggests, it will be with a view of extending such privileges to every institution of learning in the country. The near-by mountain-tops may some day become the principal astronomical observation point of the world.

There is a general air of prosperity about town that was wanting several months ago. Business is brightening up. This is especially noticeable in the real-estate line, while the other branches of trade are moving forward, not backward. Many of our merchants are painting or otherwise improving in, and as a result there are fewer vacant storerooms than during the win-

Word has been received here that the large glass for the telescope, lately received from Paris, has been approved by Alvan Clark. The University, it is claimed, is able to fulfill all its obligations to carry out the observatory project, which, it is promised on good authority, will be completed at an early date.

Pennies on the Street Cars-A Con-ductor Replies.

Los Angeles, May 20 .- To the Edtor of THE TIMES.] There seems to be a great many guardians of the street tar conductors. A conductor seems to a a marnet for mutilated and "Vindex" seems coins, pennies, etc. o be much aggrisved because a cono be much aggrisved because a confuctor would not take pennies for fare rom a lady. Probably that lady was n her way to a dry goods store where he pennies would be readily accepted.
"Vindex" also seems to hold all the sonductors responsible for the shorttomings of one. If "Vindex" will assume the uniform of a conductor for

Suggestion to the Atchison Road. SAN RAFAEL RANCH, May 17 .- [To the Editor of THE TIMES. | As I see you are doing a great deal toward opening First street westward, do not you think it would be a good thing to have the union depot also on that street? The Santa Fé has a fine piece of land around the present depot; cable and horse-car lines are there already, and I should think a really fine depot, with well-laid-out grounds, would be central and an advantage to the town. Owning one small lot in the neighborhood, I have only the smallest kind of a chisel to grind; but it seems to me that, if practicable, it would be a good thing, being near, but not in the center of Los Angeles. Could not, say, Center street be cut through and made a good road for heavy teaming between the Southers Pacific depot and First street.

Exchange.]

There are yet some persons who do not know the difference between the Langshans and the Black Cochins, both of these breeds being black and feathered-legged. The Langshan has sickle feathers, which flow over the tail and stream in the breeze, while the tail of the Cochin turns abruptly over and has no sickle feathers. The skin and legs of a Langshan close resemble a turkey, while the Cochin's is yellow under the bottom of the feet, on the skin and between the toes. The Cochin is low, compact and very clumsy, while the Langshan is more symmetrical and active, and can fly over a low fence. The Langshan matures early, while the Cochin is slow in reaching its full size.

CATARRH.

Throat Diseases, Asthms, Bronchitis and Consumption, together with Diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart, successfully treated by M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., M.C.P.S.O., By his Hot Air Medicate d'Abaiations and his Compound Oxygen Treatment.

Probably no system of practice ever employed has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr Williams for the cure of Cata-th. Throat Diseases, Bronch dis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

of cata-ra. Threat pleases. Bronok-ils, Asthuka and Consumption.

CATAIRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendemov to contract freak cold. Indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes annother, and he is slways exceedingly careful: 1 folded he always exceedingly careful: 1 folded he are always exceedingly careful: 1 folded he patient is settle in the head of the careful: 1 folded he patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of sym toms soon appear and he learns to he shorror that, instead of recovery from the disease, it is some-whate changed it is character and has extended to the throat. A conse of wear ness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hearseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it app are that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the hreat; there becomes a sense of lan utor and fatigue; the breat in lessons on a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in ofesting the throat; a feeling as though thore was not room enough in the other to breache; these and other symptome occur after. Then it is a time when control to this time the prees of the disease may have been slow a dute patient may, in expression shout to begin its deadful wony, to this time the prees of the disease may have been slow a dute patient may, in expression and intensity of the property treat. He has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by and by" recover. But this defusion is the grand error whe has a peopled our cametories with consumption.

Every case of outarrh is ourable when properly treat. Each as a fair of a samingstion, but if impossible to visit the office per-onally our write for the of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free others. A declare the call at the office of charge.
